

RODNEY VINCENT

Rodney Vincent is renowned for being a genuine all round entertainer and his love of performing has taken him from the old time dance band days to live television programs, music halls, cabarets, festivals and major venues throughout Australia.

Music, Memories & Madness

Rodney's energetic show "Music Memories and Madness" is just that, a show filled with fun, laughter and song. With Rodney's unique ability to mix a variety of country music, comedy, story telling and rock n roll you have the recipe for superb crowd-pleasing entertainment.

Rodney's show and standing in the Australian entertainment scene is no accident. It is the result of a long, hard apprenticeship, which Rodney admits 'started a while ago'. From his first engagement playing guitar in an old time dance band at his local hall, to New Faces where he got his first big break, Rodney has survived the highs and lows of the industry. After his appearance on the New Faces, Rodney joined the Channel Nine Singers on the "In Melbourne Tonight" show which featured Graham Kennedy, Ugly Dave Grey, Bert Newton and other house hold names.

On the demise of the 'Tonight show' Rodney teamed with Terry Gill to form Double Tempo, a duo that performed both on television and the cabaret circuit around Australia. After a variety of performances with Terry Gill, Rodney embarked on his solo career.

Over the years Rodney has toured with some of the best entertainers from Overseas and Australia, the likes of Col Elliott, Lucky Grills, Geraldine Doyle, Gloria Loring, Freddie & the Dreamers, The Four Kinsmen and Elvis to the Max. But none more so than one of the most unique voices in the history of rock n roll, the late great American legend Gene Pitney. Not only did Rodney support Gene on 5 Australian tours, he co-wrote and recorded 2 songs with him; "Big Surprise" and "Lets not Make the Same Mistake Again"
